

pool had to buy and that the whole transaction tended to depress the stock on the exchange and would thereby tend to make outside holders of Hocking stock unload, to the further embarrassment of the market. Heavy selling by the shorts, it is alleged, would tend to bring about the same result.

Keene and his brokers put into effect their common agreement, it is declared, on January 18 and 19, the days of the collapse of the Hocking pool. The result was in accordance with what the plaintiffs declare was reasonably to have been expected, and precisely what Keene intended. The drop in the market, it is alleged, was only partly sustained by the orders which Keene, as manager of the two pools, gave out. He sent word after the close of business on the 18th that Lathrop, Haskins & Co., so it is to be noted, should buy as much Hocking stock the following day as should be offered for sale, at the rate of 200 shares for every point that the stock should fall, and Leverich passed the order on to H. H. Criss, the specialist in Hocking on the floor of the Stock Exchange, and he did as he was directed. A good many thousands of shares of the stock he bought, it is declared, were sold by Keene and Popper and Sternbach.

Market Crumbles Away. The consequence was that "the market for said stock crumbled away and the price of said stock fell with great rapidity, and before the plaintiffs could countermand the orders to said Criss the market was so low that the plaintiffs were unable to meet their engagements to buy, which had been entered into through the said Criss, and were, in fact, unable to meet the other engagements which they had entered into on the faith of the market value of said stock."

Then Lathrop, Haskins & Co. had to suspend. The plaintiffs agree that any judgment recovered by them as a result of the action shall go to Henry D. Hottel, Kiss, their trustee in bankruptcy, for the benefit of creditors.

STRIKERS RIOTING

Governor Refuses to Send Troops to South Bend, Ind., July 24.—All passenger trains to and from South Bend were canceled to-night, the burning of freight cars and the striking of other freight train in the yards causing the company to close all operations in this vicinity.

Troops Refused.

Indianapolis, Conn., July 24.—Governor Marshall to-night refused a request from South Bend to send troops there to quell Grand Trunk strike disorders. The request was made by the superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railroad.

Attempt to Derail Train.

South Bend, Ind., July 24.—Strikers attempted to derail an eastbound passenger train to-day at L'Oliveira, the first station at which Grand Trunk eastbound trains stop in passing through South Bend. The engineer of the train noticed the turned switch signal in time to bring his train to a stop, and thereby probably prevented injury if not loss of life to the passengers.

Rioting in the local railroad yards began last night, and has been spasmodic throughout the day. One man was seriously wounded by an employee of a private detective agency, which is assisting the railroad. Later in the afternoon the mob burned two cabooses and attempted to destroy several freight cars, but the arrival of the police and the fire department resulted in dispersal of the crowd.

A freight train of fifty cars, which entered the city last night at 10 o'clock, and which was stalled by the strikers cutting the air hose and separating the train at several places, resulted in the tying up of five passenger trains.

Train Is Wrecked.

Williamsville, Conn., July 24.—The first of three freight trains to be run over the Central Vermont Railroad out of New London since the strike began last Monday, was wrecked here today by running into an open switch. The engine was a large Grand Trunk freighter. Fireman Schultz sustained a broken hip. Superintendent W. E. Costello, who was the conductor, says the switch was closed last night, and that a key was required to open it. An investigation is being made.

SAILBOAT CAPSIZES

Two Young Men Drown in Sight of Merry-makers. Erie, Pa., July 24.—Harry and Alvin Winfield, brothers, and well-known young men, were drowned in Erie harbor to-day when their sailboat capsized. They had just taken a picnic party safely around Genesee island, and were returning for another load of young people, when a gust overturned them.

Alvin Winfield's sweetheart was among a number of girls who, helplessly, witnessed the accident from shore.

SEVEN, SPEAKS LATIN

Rockefeller's Grandson Training for Great Responsibilities.

Boston, July 24.—To be properly prepared for the establishment of universal peace through the future use of the enormous resources of the Rockefeller Foundation Fund, John Rockefeller Prentiss, the seven-year-old grandson of the oil Croesus, is following a course of instruction at his father's summer home at Williams-town. His studies are such as no other boy of his age has ever been expected to master.

The child has now become distinguished quite apart from his golden ancestry by the fact that he is undoubtedly the only boy of his age who can speak Latin as fluently as other boys speak English. Parmelee Prentiss, the boy's father, expresses the hope that it may result in the boy becoming a great educator and a factor for peace through the Rockefeller Foundation.

MRS. C. W. MORSE LOSES A VALUABLE BROOCH

Wife of Convicted "Ice King" Believes Jewel Was Stolen When She Visited Husband.

Atlanta, Ga., July 24.—Mrs. Charles W. Morse lost a costly brooch while in Atlanta recently on a visit to her husband, who is confined in the Federal prison, Mrs. Morse reported her loss to the Atlanta Police Department, but so far no trace has been found of the brooch. The brooch is made in the shape of a turtle, and has a large pearl in the center, surrounded by valuable diamonds.

The jewel was given to Mrs. Morse by her husband soon after their marriage, and is one of the few pieces of jewelry she has left. She thinks it likely that the gem was stolen from her dress when she was caught in a crush at the Atlanta Union depot.

WAS SHOT 300 FEET VIA 20-INCH PIPE

Laborer on Gatum Dam Fell Into Pool and Was Carried to Outlet Safe.

Washington, D. C., July 24.—Shot through 300 feet of a twenty-inch drain pipe in a column of water at high pressure, a laborer on the Gatum dam on the Panama Canal lived to tell the tale. Juan Antolin was the human projectile, according to the report made to the Canal Commission.

From a floating platform where he was keeping a public bath, he fell into the pool and was sucked into the outlet, but Antolin preceded them by some seconds, and swam ashore.

LEAVES ESTATE OF $71,000,000

Authoritative Announcement of Value of Property of Harriman.

TRANSFER TAX $670,000

Receipts of State Comptroller Largest in History of Department.

Name. Amount of Estate. Edward H. Harriman..... $71,053,707. Cornelius Vanderbilt..... 72,500,000. Jay Gould..... 72,000,000. J. Stewart Kennedy..... 70,000,000. Henry H. Rogers..... 34,000,000. The State of New York received from the Harriman, Rogers and Kennedy estates taxes amounting to the enormous total of $2,170,000.

New York, July 24.—Edward H. Harriman was worth $71,000,000 when he died on September 8, 1909. Wall Street and the general public have made estimates of the amount of the Harriman estate that ranged from $100,000,000 to twice as much, but few even of his most intimate friends believed that his estate would fall below $50,000,000.

The estimate given above is that prepared by Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, who was one of Harriman's closest friends and legal advisers, and has since acted as the chief adviser of Mrs. Harriman, to whom the financier left everything he possessed.

Mr. Peabody, representing Mrs. Harriman, paid into the office of Comptroller William C. Clegg on March 5 last $775,000, as his estimate of the amount of inheritance tax to which the State would be entitled under the transfer tax law. Under the law, the payment of this tax within six months of the death of the testator entitles the estate to a rebate of 5 per cent. The amount paid, therefore, represents 95 per cent. of what would be due were there no rebate. As Mr. Harriman bequeathed everything to his wife, a tax of 1 per cent. is all that the State demands from the estate. A little figuring shows that Mr. Peabody's estimate of the Harriman estate was, on March 5, $71,053,737.

This is the first authoritative announcement that has been made of the value of the property that Edward H. Harriman owned. The most absolute secrecy has been maintained by all concerned about the value of the estate. A report of the value of the estate to the State Comptroller of the Comptroller's office yesterday, and obtained the fact of the payment. Other than this payment, nothing has been done toward the legal settlement of Mr. Harriman's estate. Though ten months have elapsed, no application has been made for the appointment of an official appraiser, and so far as the State is concerned, nothing has been done to disclose the nature of the property which Mr. Harriman possessed, and which is now the property of Mrs. W. Harriman.

William J. Wygant, the official State appraiser in Orange county, in which jurisdiction the property lies, as Mr. Harriman's will was filed there, has had no notice of the estate. Mrs. Harriman, that she wished to set the law of the estate, and so far as the State is concerned, nothing has been done to disclose the nature of the property which Mr. Harriman possessed, and which is now the property of Mrs. W. Harriman.

What Stocks Did Harriman Own? At the same time, Comptroller William C. Clegg, who is in charge of the State's financial affairs, has advised Mr. Wygant to let him know the nature of the transfer tax deposition, which the executrix must file when she seeks to have the estate wound up, the moment such action is taken.

The payment of $775,000 to the State Comptroller by Mr. Peabody helped bring up to a record mark the receipts of the Transfer Tax Department. Seven weeks later, on April 30, the enormous sum of $1,150,000 was paid to the comptroller's office by the executrix of the estate of J. Stewart Kennedy, the millionaire philanthropist, who died on October 3, 1909. Mr. Kennedy's estate was not far behind Mr. Harriman's in amount, approximating $76,000,000, but as he bequeathed a great portion of it to charitable institutions and colleges, the State received less. New York State, the tax on his estate was proportionately larger. Bequests to foreign institutions, educational or charitable, are taxable at the rate of 5 per cent.

shop a number of canvased hams swinging in the window as an advertisement. John Smith, a druggist, after a few days, complained to the Health Board that the hams were emitting an odor that was not only offensive, but dangerous. A number of neighbors joined in the complaint.

The authorities burst in the door of the shop, and with cloths on their noses, seized the hams and ripped off the canvas covering. The hams were basswood.

TOO MANY AFFINITIES.

Peace Offering of Shirts and Doughnuts Fails in Family Far. Trenton, July 24.—After having forgiven her husband for having an "affinity" and having shown a forgiveness by sending him a Christmas gift of two shirts and a dozen doughnuts, Mrs. M. Ella Bullock, of Mt. Holly, was unable to stand a second affinity, and sued her husband for divorce. Chancellor Pitney was just signed the decree in the case. The testimony taken before Special Master Eckard P. Budd, who recommended the divorce.

Mrs. Bullock's husband is D. Clinton L. Bullock, of Mt. Holly. She testified that one day she found in her husband's pocket a letter from a Beverly woman. Taking her young son, she called upon the woman and informed her that Bullock was a married man. There was a reconciliation between the Bullocks, and the wife sent her husband the shirts and doughnuts as a Christmas gift. Later, Mrs. Bullock said, she found a letter addressed to her husband by a woman in Cramer Hill, N. J. When she took her husband to task for this, she said, he told her he was going to leave her and that a twenty-horse team could not drag him back to her. He kept his threat. Mrs. Bullock before her marriage was Miss Aaronson and lived in Mt. Holly.

Buzzer Gets Grip on Man's Garments and Peels Them Off Him.

Boston, July 24.—Joseph P. Walsh, of Cambridge, is congratulating himself today on his lucky escape from serious injury last night, when his car was struck by a truck. A circular saw in Barbour & Stockwell's machine shop.

He was at work near the saw, when his clothing caught in a revolving bar. He was nearly thrown off his feet, but succeeded in bracing himself against the tremendous power that was dragging him into the machinery. His clothing gave way and every stitch except his stockings was torn from him. He was taken to the Cambridge Hospital and a careful examination was made. It was found no bones were broken, but he suffered abrasions of the left arm, abdomen and left hip.

GAEKWAR'S TRUNKS GOT WET.

Priceless Fancies, Gifts for King, Ruined by Baroda was here, a short time ago, a large portion of his sixty-four trunks, filled not only with personal baggage, but containing valuable presents and gifts that were to be bestowed upon the various rulers of Europe, got lost on the way. Some are still making their way across the continent. The few trunks that did turn up were opened, and their contents found to be soaked, and all the costly garments, the gossamer gowns, the rare East Indian fabrics, Persian portieres, Damascus draperies, bore the watermark of American carelessness. The Gawkwar's lawyers are now negotiating with the railroad over a settlement to cover the Gawkwar's feelings for damaging the princely gifts.

REWARDS MOTORMAN'S GRIT.

Promotion Near for Man Who Saved 88 Lives by Cool, Quick Work.

New York, July 24.—The grit of George Fuchs, a motorman, who saved thirty-eight persons from what looked like sure death at the Mount Olivet Avenue crossing of the Long Island Railroad, at Massport, was substantially rewarded to-day. The officers of the Borough Rapid Transit Company gave him 100 credit marks, which wiped out twenty-seven demerits that had been set against his name in the ten years of his service.

Fuchs's regular run is from Park Row to the Massport car barns on the Flushing Avenue line. He had charge of an open car, which reached the Mount Olivet Avenue crossing with thirty-eight passengers. The gate-man let down the gates just as the car was in the middle of the crossing, hemming it in. The Montague express came rushing down on the car and a terrible accident seemed imminent. Quickly, Fuchs, with all his power and smothered through the gates just in the nick of time. The express just grazed the rear platform as it shot by.

Fuchs, although he got no medal and no purse, said to-day that he was perfectly satisfied with the action of his employers in giving him 100 credit marks. With his 2 demerits, he was obliterated, he is now 72 marks to the good and in line for a speedy promotion if he pays diligent attention to his duties. He is unmarried.

He pleaded nolo contendere to the charge, and said he merely wanted to see the "Colonel."

"What Colonel?" asked the magistrate.

"Colonel Roosevelt, Your Honor. He was in a machine ahead of me."

"Well, did you see him?" asked the court.

"No, I only got a glance at him," was the reply.

"All right; $20 for the glance," said the magistrate. And the prisoner paid over the fine.
